School bus crashes Wednesday morning

By JOSH SHEPHERD, News Writer
Only the bus driver and monitor were aboard Harrison County school bus 60 early Wednesday morning when it veered off into a deep culvert on New Lair Road. Unfortunately, the accident was not free of injuries. The driver, complaining of back pain, was transported to Harrison Memorial Hospital for evaluation after the accident. According to Harrison County Deputy Sheriff Dean Hutchison, the accident occurred when the front tires of the bus got caught in a deep culvert along the right side of New Lair Road. The bus continued down the culvert through two entrance drives and narrowly missing a stone entrance gate before coming to rest at the corner of a black plank fence. The bus was traveling to its regular pick up route for students when the accident occurred. The driver, Ginger Hafer, was transported by ambulance to Harrison Memorial Hospital. The monitor, Patricia Linville, managed to escape the accident uninjured.

In addition to emergency personnel, Harrison County Assistant Superintendent David Case and bus garage mechanics were on the scene. Commenting on the accident, Superintendent Andy Dotson expressed concern for the injured bus driver, but was otherwise grateful that no children were on the bus when the accident occurred. He also was appreciative of the prompt response from community members and emergency personnel who responded quickly to the accident. He also commended school staff members who followed their school’s protocols in such an event.

Police nab Fast Max robbery suspect

By BECKY BARNES, Editor
Less than 24 hours after Cynthiana’s Fast Max was robbed, police had a suspect in custody. Zachary Massey, 24, Cynthiana, was arrested last Thursday morning and charged with first degree robbery. Fast Max was robbed Wednesday night, Dec. 3, for a second time within the last three months. Cynthiana E911 was notified at 5:41 p.m. by the clerk at Fast Max that the store had been robbed. Fast Max is located on

Massey

U.S. 27 South at KY 32. According to Ptl. Jeff Thomas of the Cynthiana Police Department, after he had Massey in custody and was getting him out of the cruiser at the police department, Massey bolted when Thomas opened the back door of his cruiser.

“He didn’t get very far,” Thomas said, noting that with Ptl. Lewis Crump’s assistance, Massey was back in custody immediately. Massey was charged with first degree robbery as well as third degree escape and served a warrant for non-payment of fines. Since being incarcerated at the Bourbon County Detention Center, other charges have also been added, including second degree criminal possession of a forged instrument and fraudulent use of a credit card, more than $500 but less than $10,000.

He is being held on a $50,000 cash bond. Cynthiana police are also investigating a series of gas station/convenience store robberies that have occurred in Cynthiana since Sept. 30, which is when the first Fast Max robbery occurred. Others are: Oct. 4, First Stop; Oct. 19, Ken’s; and Nov. 16, Family Dollar Store. Anyone with information is asked to contact the Cynthiana Police Department at 234-7100.

Eubanks retiring after 30-plus years of music with JoJo Gunn, others

By JOSH SHEPHERD, News Writer
There was a point in the life of the band JoJo Gunn when they were playing six to seven nights a week in places as far from home as Florida, Pennsylvania and Mississippi. Their agent, who called them one of the top working bands around, arranged for them to open for some of the leading acts in country music — Merle Haggard, Luke Bryan, Marshall Tucker Band, The Kentucky Headhunters and George Jones, just to name a few. Even though they are several years removed from those busy days, JoJo Gunn was one of the bands invited to play gigs in Heritage Hall during the two-day series of Garth Brooks concert at Rupp Arena last October. But during that period when the band members spent more time on the road than home, they reached an age where the road “was a life, but it wasn’t a life we wanted to live,” said Jamie Eubanks, who has been front man for JoJo Gunn for 25 years. At 47-years-old, Eubanks said he has reached another point where his life and priorities have changed. Last week, Eubanks informed the band that he was stepping down as manager and lead singer. It’s a decision he has been working up the courage to announce for the last two years, he said. “I’ve hesitated because I’m reluctant to disappoint the rest of the band. JoJo Gunn has been a huge part of my life and I love these guys,” Eubanks said. “But I want the biggest part of my life to be spent with my wife and children now.” This April, Jamie and Sherry Eubanks will celebrate their

Jamie Eubanks

20th anniversary. His daughters, Alexa and Olivia, are reaching ages where they’re getting busy with activities of their own. And frankly, Jamie wants to be there for it. He doesn’t want to miss a second. “What I’m retiring from is my time commitment to the band. See EUBANKS, page 3

DID YOU KNOW?

Three out of four children experience an ear infection before they are three years old

Ear infections are the most common illness in babies and young children. And they can be painful. In some cases fluid and mucus stay trapped in the ear after the infection is over which can also affect your child's hearing.

Here are a few signs to look for:

- Does she tug or pull at her ears?
- Does he cry more than usual?
- Do you see fluid draining out of her ears?
- Does he have trouble sleeping?
- Can she keep her balance?
- Does he have trouble hearing?
- Does she seem not to respond to quiet sounds?

An ear infection can cause temporary hearing problems. Temporary speech and language problems can happen too. If left untreated these problems can become more serious.

A child with an ear infection may show you any of these signs. If you see any of them, call us at:

Two families lose homes, belongings to fires

By JOSH SHEPHERD, News Writer

There has been an outpouring of local support for two Harrison County families who lost their homes to fire right at the start of the holiday season.

According to Charles Allen Carson, chief of the Harrison County Volunteer Fire Department, fires claimed the home of the Charles Cole family and the home of Todd and Rhonda Morrison right around Thanksgiving weekend.

The Cole family house fire occurred on Bobtown Road on Wednesday, Nov. 26 at around 11:30 a.m.

Four of the five family members who reside at the home were inside when the house caught fire. All of them had evacuated the premises by the time Harrison County firefighters arrived.

Unfortunately, Carson said, the home's interior was fully involved by the time fire trucks arrived. The team was able to preserve the home's structure, but everything inside the home was a loss, Carson said.

The house fire that claimed the Morrison's home on Monday, Dec. 1, just after midnight, was a total loss, Carson said.

The couple reported the fire when they arrived and discovered the blaze at their home on Salem Pike. By the time the call came in, the home had been burning for some time, Carson said.

When trucks arrived, the home was fully involved so firefighters turned their attention to keeping the fire from spreading to a detached garage or affecting a propane heating tank nearby.

Preliminary investigations point to kerosene heaters as the likely cause of both fires, the chief said.

"There was no loss of life in either fire. But in each case the families lost everything they had inside the home," Carson said. "That's tough anytime it happens, but it can be especially hard during the holidays."

In the wake of the losses suffered by the Cole family, members of the Brown Ambulance Service organized an impromptu drive to help them out.

According to Mel Parker, an ambulance service EMT, there were five people living in the home, including two children.

"They lost everything right before Thanksgiving. So we helped organize a community drive to get them back on their feet," Parker said.

There are still some family needs and the ambulance service is glad to provide information on donations, Parker said.

The Morrisons have also benefited from their home community's quick response to their personal disaster.

Family member Amy Craddock, a server at Biancke's Restaurant, said that the community response to the plight of her dad and stepmother was almost immediate.

"There were people asking what they could do to help by the next morning. Several churches are collecting donations of the basics, food and clothes and the like, to help out," Craddock said.

Even some local businesses in the area have made donations, she noted.

The family asked to extend thanks to Beaver Baptist Church and Indian Creek Christian Church for sponsoring drives to help with immediate needs, she said.

"It's just one of the great things about being from a small town. Everyone knows you and is ready to help when there's a need," Craddock said.

Eubanks

There have been so many good things in my life — I really have been blessed. But this is the first time when I know for certain that I want to commit the majority of my time to my family," Eubanks said.

Interestingly, the passion that drove his decision to spend more time with family is similar to the impulse that guided him toward music 30 years ago.

Actually, it's been even longer than 30 years.

Eubanks has been singing since he was a baby. His mother, Flora, he said, had a beautiful voice and played the piano.

"People are always asking singers about their influences. I have a lot of them, but the biggest influence in my life is my mom. Then it was probably Elvis Presley. But I grew up singing gospel before I did anything else, so when you get right down to it, God was a bigger influence. But Elvis is right in there at the top," Eubanks said.

But Eubanks learned the joy of performing five years before joining JoJo Gunn, he said.

At 17-years-old, while working at Ken's Super Value, Eubanks got with Jerry Barnes, Dwayne Gillispie and Kendall Techau to form the band "J.B. and the Bullfrogs."

"We specialized in 50's rock and roll. Elvis stuff and Bill Hailey and the Comets, you know, 50s Doo Wop," he said.

They didn't play clubs, he said, but they got hired for store grand openings and parties. Then he joined Quick Draw, a band that was largely into southern rock and country.

JoJo Gunn came soon after that and it became clear that the band had something. The core members were serious about figuring out the music business and exploring whether they could make a living at it.

"When things got busy, it got to be work. But it was good work and I got a chance to meet a lot of good people on the road. Our agent knew the performers where we had a good fit," Eubanks said.

In fact, they turned out to be very good fits. One of the last rewards of being involved in the music industry full time are the enduring friendships he has built with JoJo Gunn fans, family and the other musicians on the road.

There are times when people ask him if he regrets not "making it." The question itself strikes him as a bit odd.

While JoJo Gunn never had platinum-selling albums, Grammy awards or national name recognition, Eubanks said that the band "lived the best life it could live."

When Eubanks was singing for Quick Draw, one of first big names he ever opened for was John Anderson.

Being young and hungry at that time, Eubanks and bandmate Randy Jacobs got an opportunity to meet the country star and ask the question that was important to them at the time.

"We asked him what success was like. And he told us that a performer is only as good as the people with whom you surround yourself." Reflecting back on those years, Eubanks understands exactly what Anderson meant.

"I consider myself extremely blessed with the people I've worked with over the years. And, more important than that, God has seen fit to bless me with a family that has supported my passions over the decades," Eubanks said.

John Morgan is the new front man for JoJo Gunn. "Most fans are familiar with him and he'll be great," Eubanks said. And he'll be assisted by the core members that once surrounded Eubanks — Dave Wilson, Jimmy Tucker, Jarrod Biddle and Chris Caskey.

And Eubanks will be glad to take up the microphone as needed for an occasional outdoor gig.

"One thing I'll say about us, we've always shown our gratitude to our home community in any we can. And we've tried to give back as much as this community has given us. I love that we honor our veterans and anytime we could lend our support to them or families in need, we did it. That's one of the things I've loved about our bands," Eubanks said.

Those who need more of Jamie Eubanks' singing in their lives can check in at Indian Creek Christian Church where he imagines performing gospel songs and specials from time to time.

But music is no longer his guiding passion. It's important, but it no longer occupies as the high position in his life that it once did.

Eubanks noticed that he was starting to think hard about choosing between his family and his band.

"I choose my family every time. My kids are getting involved in things and I want to be there. I don't want to just hear about it — I want to be there. And I want nothing in the way of that. My parents were there for me growing up and I want the same for my daughters," Eubanks said.

Fans have kidded him, saying that he'll be back. That he'll miss it and there will come a time when he returns. And he doesn't deny that might happen.

But he's not sure people will be as excited to hear a 63-year-old Jamie Eubanks singing a new R&B song.

But he'll just have to see where his passions lead him then.

Sometimes the best stories of the year...

It's drawing in on that time when we select our top 10 stories of the year. What do you think they are? There have been numerous tragedies in the county over the last 12 months that have grabbed the biggest headlines. While they may not make the top 10 stories of the year, there have also been some pretty amazing stories.

One that quickly comes to mind is the Project Playground completion at Flat Run Veterans' Park.

It impresses me that a group of young parents first recognized the need for playground equipment for the toddler age, set a goal to raise funds and then met that goal!

These young moms are Cynthiana and Harrison County's future. I feel confident that they can handle it.

I have applauded them before, but I want to get their names out there again so that they can be thanked by the community.

The women who headed the committee were: Rebecca McCauley, Cassie Moses, Codye McCann, Emily Ammerman, Mandy Gossett-Thornton and Jennifer Gossett.

Their goal was to raise $40,000.

It takes quite a bit of money to purchase and install enough equipment to actually call it a playground.

Within the first month they had $10,000. After that, it was gifts of $25 to $1,000 that drew them closer to their goal.

In the end, they had some help from the city and county governments so that the playground could be ready for the summer of 2014.

And, it was.

On June 22, a ribbon-cutting ceremony was held at the park for the unveiling of age-appropriate gizmos.

There is a rocking duck, a car, swings and slides, teeter-totter, a crawl-through caterpillar and a climbing wall.

Park benches have been installed around the playground so that parents can be close-by while the children play.

Thank you moms (and dads) for recognizing the need and doing something about it besides complain.

The latter would only have managed to get a request tied up in government red tape for as long as it took the moms to raise the money themselves.

This also proves that government is willing to listen.

The women had all their i's dotted before they approached the elected officials. They made their presentation and received the blessing of the court and the commission.

Let them be a role model for others who have ideas that would improve our community.

Other "good news" stories that made headlines last year were winners of the Chamber of Commerce's people of the year.

That's an annual honors banquet where those who have been nominated and selected by a panel are celebrated by the community and those individuals who nominated them.

In fact, now is the time to submit your new nominations to the Chamber. Anyone can make a nomination!

The categories of honorees include business, farmer, educator, public safety officer, health care provider, volunteer and citizen of the year.

The deadline for nominations is Feb. 10. The banquet will be announced after nominations have closed.

Another project that has grown beyond all expectations is the Cynthiana Rod Run.

All I can say is, "Wow!"

It's an amazing day that draws people from all over the place to our little town in central Kentucky. And those who came in 2013 to the maiden event returned in 2014 to see how it grew.

Cheers to those who serve on the committee with Jerry and Tunya Adams to see Jerry's dream event come true.

Jamie Moore decorates three houses at the corner of Poplar and Penn streets. The light display is on from 6-8 p.m. each night. Santa is also outside to greet visitors with a candy cane.

Nearly 370 strings of lights make up Christmas Wonderland

Twinkling lights, pudgy penguins and the smiles of children reaffirm that this is Christmas.

Jamie Moore is Mr. Christmas.

He has decorated three houses at the corner of Poplar and Penn streets; the house he shares with his mother Marquita Moore, his girlfriend's

He has used 364 strings of lights, nine reindeer, a sleigh, penguins, four snowmen, three homemade Christmas trees and two artificial trees, two Merry Christmas signs, and five arches.

It all comes together to create a Christmas wonderland.

Every night at 6 p.m., Moore goes from one house to the other turning on the lights and making sure the blow-up attractions are inflated. He dons his Santa suit and greets passersby in their cars and on foot. He hands out candy canes and good will. Last year, Moore lived on Walnut Street and had a display there as well. After moving to Poplar Street, he went about designing his layout for Christmas 2014. He said he has thought about not decorating, but he always drags out the boxes of lights when the time is right. It makes for a higher electric bill, but Moore said it's all worth it. "A lot of kids come by and they are really excited about it," Moore said while standing on the street in front of his home waving at the children who pass by.

He estimates that 150 cars have visited his little corner and close to 50 walkers.

Moore developed his interest in decorating from his father, Jerry, who died in 2007.

This year, Moore said, is dedicated to his father.

“He loved Christmas and always decorated,” he said.

And while he says each year will be his last, he’s already making plans to add three to four gingerbread men next year.

Moore’s lights remain on until 8 p.m. However, he doesn’t turn them on if it’s raining.

Handy House gets city's attention again

BY BECKY BARNES, EDITOR

While a decision on the future of the Handy House was tabled at the Nov. 25 Cynthiaiana City Commission, it was by no means the end of controversial debate.

At Tuesday's meeting, Cynthiaiana Mayor Steve Moses encouraged additional discussion about the house that has been officially named to the National Registry of Historic Places.

Commissioner Billy Grayson, who has been outspoken about the drain saving the house would place on city finances, restated those same concerns Tuesday night.

“I’m not from Massachusetts or Frankfort,” Grayson said. “I am from West Penn Street.”

Grayson said he had roots in Harrison County and it was his hometown that was being discussed

He asked fellow commissioners if they had reviewed the packet that was presented at the last meeting by the Historical Society of Harrison County (HSHC).

"After reviewing the packet I don't see how we can support it," Grayson said. "I don't think it can be done."

Grayson said the issue has been discussed since February 2005.

Even if the HSHC takes over the house for renovations, the city and county will still be responsible for providing a parking lot, a road and a platform for outdoor activities such as weddings.

Grayson said he could also see that ballgames would have to be suspended between 2 and 5 p.m. some days because of a wedding on the hill.

"We need to vote on it and get rid of it as soon as possible," Grayson said.

Moses agreed.
“The black community wants it gone,” Moses said. “They think they have suffered enough.”

One of the areas of contention is that the Handy House, also known as Ridgeway, was supposedly home to a number of slaves who were held by their owners.

Moses said there are enough racial problems in the U.S. right now.

“We don’t want that here,” he said. “We’ve

Sentencing set for Purdom

Former Cynthiana banker convicted in Lawrence Co. of child porn charges

BY LILLY ADKINS, Big SANDY NEWS
LOUISA – A Lawrence Circuit Court jury has found a Louisa man guilty of four counts of distribution of matter portraying a sexual performance by a minor and one count of possession of matter portraying a sexual performance by a minor.

Formal sentencing for Edgar Purdom, 69, is scheduled Dec. 30 at 10 a.m. in Lawrence Circuit Court.

Purdom was formerly vice president at Farmers National Bank of Cynthiana.

The jury recommended that Purdom serve three years for each count, to run consecutively, for a total of 15 years.

Assistant Commonwealth's Attorney Tony Skeans asked that Purdom be remanded into custody immediately following his conviction, and the request was granted.

Purdom was indicted by a Lawrence County Grand Jury on Jan. 14, following an investigation by Attorney General Jack Conway's Cybercrimes Unit.

"Because of the hard work of my Cybercrimes Unit, we have put another child pornographer behind bars," Conway said in a press release issued after the conviction. "I would also like to thank Anna Melvin, Commonwealth's Attorney for the 24th Judicial Circuit, and her staff for the successful prosecution of this case. Our efforts are making the Internet a safer place for Kentucky children."

The trial began Monday, Nov. 24, with much of the first day's testimony focusing on how the computer he was using was identified.

The jury heard testimony from cybercrime investigator Kathryn Reed, who explained that her job focused on Internet crimes against children and that she was able to locate Purdom through the IP address assigned to his computer.

Reed said that Purdom was allegedly using a program called Ares to download child pornography and that he was then sharing files with other users. She said that her computer was equipped with a program that monitors sites associated with child pornography and how, through Purdom's IP address, she was able to track the location of the computer being used.

Reed also downloaded several videos coming from the IP address and after reviewing the content of the files determined them to be child porn.

On Oct. 3, 2013, a search warrant was executed at Purdom's home, where seven items with the ability to access the Internet were seized. Reed also interviewed Purdom while at the residence, and a tape of the interview was played for the jury.

Purdom denied in the recorded interview that he had downloaded child pornography and said that he had been having problems with his computer, so he got Vando Clemente to work on it.

Clemente testified Tuesday that he had removed and changed out the hard drive on the computer, then had thrown away the old hard drive.

Purdom also said during his interview that his Internet service is password-protected, and at that time Reed read Purdom his Miranda rights.

Purdom said that he is the only one who used the computer in the bedroom and denied knowledge of a file-sharing program being on the computer.

"We've already looked at the computer, and there is a file-sharing program on there," Reed told Purdom.

Purdom then said that six or seven years earlier, a friend named Alan Burner had introduced him to a program called Ares.

"You can watch videos," Purdom said. "I have it on the computer at the bank, but haven't accessed it on the work computer since I left the bank."

Reed told Purdom that a passport drive had at one point been hooked up to the computer. Reed explained to the jury that a passport drive was a portable hard drive that can store files on it.

Purdom said the device was at the bank and agreed to provide the passport drive.

In a video interview with Purdom, Reed once again read him his Miranda rights, explaining that he didn't have to provide the devices to her, but he still agreed to give them to her.

"What you share with me is going to be used against you," Reed said.

Purdom still agreed to talk with Reed.

Purdom provided Reed with more devices that he retrieved from the bank but failed to provide a passport drive.

After Reed explained what was found on the computer, Purdom said he was still in shock and that he didn't download child porn.

"All the evidence that I have against you at this point is very strong," Reed said. "Based on what you told me, I'm convinced you did this. Somebody in that house downloaded those videos. You need to take ownership."

"I'm going to take ownership for what I did, but I'm not the one who did this," Purdom said.

On Tuesday, Nov. 25, Lycam manager Steve Lycans testified that Purdom was the subscriber of the IP address identified in the search warrant.

Lycans also explained that there are two IP addresses and that an IP address is like a mailbox and is specific to the user.

A second IP address is associated with the router, which Lycans testified "directs traffic from one device to the next."

In his cross-examination, Purdom's attorney, Gordon Dill asked Lycans whether there was information within his company to show the times a person was online.

"It will show the modem is online and that data is being passed through," Lycans said.

Purdom's wife of two years, Ann, also testified.

Ann Purdom said that they have two residences, one in Louisa and another in Cynthiana, and that she goes back and forth between the two.

Skeans asked Ann Purdom whether she ever accessed her husband's computer that had been in the bedroom. She said no and that she had no knowledge on how to get on it.

She also said her husband was in charge of setting up the wireless router.

Ann Purdom also testified that she and her husband had gone to Florida on vacation.

The couple flew to Florida on Sept. 19, 2013, but Ann Purdom said prior to their departure she had gone to their Cynthiana residence to prepare for the trip.

Clemente testified about having repaired Purdom's computer. Clemente doesn't drive but either rides a bike, walks or relies on someone to provide him with transportation by driving him places.

He said he met Purdom at the bank and has worked on his computers several times.

Clemente said that during the repair he had replaced the hard drive and reinstalled Windows, then discarded the old hard drive along with other computer parts into the trash.

Dill asked Clemente about the interview he had with Reed and the fact that he was in the country without a legal Visa.

"An immigration and customs enforcement officer came with her," Clemente said. "She asked for the old hard drive during the interview. I changed the hard drive completely and threw it in the garbage with other computer parts."

Clemente was asked whether he had used Purdom's IP address, and he said he hadn't and that he couldn't have because although he had a laptop, it doesn't have a good battery and he couldn't have done it.

Clemente told Skeans during his testimony that when he reinstalled Windows onto the computer that he had formatted the hard drive and that he had the computer in his possession for a couple of days or maybe a week, but that he wouldn't have kept it longer.

Purdom's attorney asked Clemente whether he speaks Portuguese, and he said he does.

"Do you have any idea why 21 files were downloaded on Sept. 9-10 and why 14 are Portuguese?" Dill asked.

"No," Clemente said. Kentucky State Police forensic examiner Thomas Bell testified that he has specialized training in the field.

"We first remove the hard drive and connect it to a forensic work station," Bell said. "The data flows in only one direction and we extract that information. After we finish, we replace the hard drive. The bridge on the forensic work station prevents communication and gives us a forensic copy of the hard-drive."

Bell also said it is like the table of contents to a book, and if a file is written onto a computer, that file is placed in the table of contents.

"If the file is sent to the recycle bin, there will be information in the recycle bin and if it is deleted, it is still on the computer, but the pointer is removed," Bell said. "We ran an OS Triage on the computer along with my shared files and it listed the connected USB devices but there were no images or videos at that time. There was a passport external drive, but we received a firelight external drive. We use single source to download and it verifies file signatures we can hash every file on the computer. It is basically a digital fingerprint."

Bell also testified that cookies were found on two of the computers taken from the home, including the one he used exclusively in the bedroom and another laptop that was found inside a bag.

Bell said that if cookies are not deleted, they can tell you what sites are visited and if the computer retains the cookies, it enhances the user's ability when they revisit a site.

"Cookies only talk back to the site that drops it," Bell said. "Cookies also record the IP address, the username and other information can also be in that cookie. Cookies are resident to the computer being used."

Bell was able to identify a large number of cookies from the computers that had visited sites for child porn. They also were able to find where somebody consistently logged in and accessed the bank where Purdom worked.

During cross-examination, Dill asked Bell whether he had found evidence of a Trojan horse virus and he said he did but it was unlikely to have affected the computer, because the remote access was turned off.

Dill asked whether you can get a booster for the WiFi, and Bell said you can, which would increase the distance a person could be from the home and still get a signal.

Bell testified that he found two versions of the file-sharing program on the computer.

The first person called to testify for the defense was Purdom, who testified that he had never had an external device called a passport and that the portable drives he did bring to the investigators belonged to the bank.

Purdom testified that "Vando" took the computer in late August and that he was in Florida from Sept. 19-29 and that he didn't get the computer back until he returned. He continued to deny knowledge of any of the downloads.

Skeans asked Purdom how in that time was his computer on his IP address and pointed out that the experts identified those dates as the dates downloads were made.

"All I can say is that the computer wasn't there," Purdom said.

"The entirety of that time, forensic evidence shows it is also accessing Louisa Community Bank, through a VPN connection, which is a secure network that nobody else can access," Skeans said. "Who installed the VPN private network?"

Purdom said he wasn't sure and that it could have been Clemente.

Skeans then asked Purdom if that was the case, does he have information to access the private network.

"If it was on my old computer, then yes he did have the information to access it," Purdom said.

had controversy long enough. If we're not going forward, we're going backwards."

Prior to the discussion, Grayson made a motion to bring the topic back to the table. The motion was seconded by Moses. However, those were the only votes in favor of the motion.

In other matters, the commission:

- Honored Jack Keith, who is the longest currently serving commissioner.

Keith has been on the commission for eight years. However, his photograph was added to the wall of mayors for the 18 months he served as Cynthiana's mayor after Jim Brown resigned.

Brown suffered a stroke during his term and Keith was named interim mayor. He was later appointed to fill Brown's unexpired term.

- Heard Commissioner Gary Brunker announce that Cynthiana Ptl. John Bright will be recognized for his contributions to reduce impaired driving by Gov. Steve Beshear.

Brunker said the Cynthiana Police Department made 55 impaired driving arrests between Oct. 1, 2013, and Sept. 30, 2014. Nineteen of those were made by Bright.

- Announced that an Eastern Kentucky University student will be working at the Cynthiana Fire Department as an intern next semester.

- Heard Commissioner Roger Slade report that all leaf collecting is complete.

- Heard Keith report that work is continuing on sidewalk replacement on Pike Street. He said he is hopeful that work can progress to Elmarch Avenue before it gets too cold to pour new concrete.

Extension office to offer ham curing project

For the last few years Harrison County 4-H has conducted a Ham Curing Project. The project included buying the ham and learning the process of curing the ham. The Extension Office last year developed a curing facility so the project participants could participate in the total process of curing the hams.

It has been decided that our curing facility is large enough to add additional participants. If you would be interested in buying and curing a ham for your own use please contact the Extension Office at 234-5510 or stop by and discuss the project. The cost of the hams and instructional classes to cure properly will be $40 per participant. Since we are on a tight schedule anyone interested must confirm by Dec. 23 or until all spaces are allocated.

Courthouse renovation complete

County offices start moving in next week

By JOSH SHEPHERD, NEWS WRITER

The majority of the Harrison County Courthouse renovation is complete. County offices, beginning with the judge-executive and his staff, will begin occupying the building as early as next week, according to Judge Executive Alex Barnett.

Actual costs to renovate the courthouse exceeded the cushion figured into the original project estimate, Barnett said. The overruns involved a number of small details, such as window blinds, a refrigerator, desks and miscellaneous office equipment, that ended up being a larger figure than anticipated, he said.

"Those final details eat up cash and no one thinks about them until you start thinking about moving into the building," commented Magistrate Frank Henson.

The overrun is not anything terrible, Barnett said, and when compared with the enhancement that the courthouse will make on the center of historic downtown Cynthiana for the next decades to come, the price was justified.

"This courthouse will make a profound impact on the community," Barnett said.

It is expected that the courthouse will be fully occupied by all Harrison County offices by the end of January.

In another matter before the fiscal court, at the request of the Harrison County Senior Citizens Center, magistrates rescinded a previously approved motion to loan the center $25,000.

The original loan request, which was approved by the fiscal court last month, was designed to help the financially strapped center pay two years worth of taxes to the Internal Revenue Service (IRS).

However, researching further into their idea of loan requests from the city and county, the center's new director, Robin Florence discovered that administrators would be personally responsible for the loan if the center defaulted.

Therefore, the director requested that the court amend their motion from a loan to a donation.

The magistrates re-entered a motion to donate $20,000 to the center, payable in one $10,000 installment now and another in June.

An additional request from the senior citizen's center for $5,000 was tabled because of some questions that the court had concerning details regarding its proposed use in the center's administrative salaries.

In other business, the fiscal court:

- Agreed to a request from Harrison County Jail-elect Steve Slade to allow deputy jailers to park official vehicles at their homes while they are on-call. If there is evidence of abuse of this privilege, then Slade will reconsider the policy.

- Approved a second reading of ordinance #287 permitting private clubs to serve alcohol by the drink seven days a week.

- Awarded Ron's Concrete the bid to repair the Whalen Lane bridge deck at a total cost of $2,600.

- Accepted a bid to purchase a used bucket truck from Harrison Machine Shop at $26,825. Magistrates said the bid price was well under their expected price.

- Approved the Harrison County Clerk's budget for 2015.

- Approved the appointment of Bryan (Jack) Sifford and Jennifer Yazell to the Harrison County Extension District Board.

- Approved the appointment of Dr. Derek Clarke to fill out the unexpired term of Steve Snapp on the Harrison County Airport Board.

There is hope for the cracked pot

Several years ago, I owned a pot that was produced by a manufacturer that guaranteed it would never chip, break or crack.

Well one day, as I was boiling some water on the stove, I noticed the water hitting the flame but the pot was not boiling over.

To my surprise, the pot had a crack in it. At that moment, several thoughts came to mind about cracked pots.

Cracked pots possess imperfections that cause them to be hopelessly useless.

Cracked pots hold water like a gossip keeps silent after hearing a hot juicy rumor.

Cracked pots, if not handled carefully, can break, cut you, and leave a long lasting painful scar.

I ask the question, "Who would want a cracked pot?"

In the beginning of the 18th chapter of the prophetic book of Jeremiah, the prophet Jeremiah is being directed by God to go to the potter's house.

Antonio Stuckey

SAINT JAMES A.M.E. CHURCH

God's compel was not with cause, and due to Jeremiah's obedience he received a word from God.

God wanted to set the people of Israel free from their bondage of sin and habitual rebellion.

In verse six, Jeremiah quotes the Lord as saying, "O House of Israel, cannot I do with you as this potter?" saith the Lord. "Behold as the clay is in the potter's hand, so are ye in mine hand, O House of Israel."

The people had regressed to a point a depravity where the 10 Commandments, the Laws of God, were looked upon as merely 10 suggestions to cast by the wayside.

Because of their behavior they were in a state of brokenness. Even though God loved them and desired for them to be abundantly blessed, He was not and has never been in the blessing-of-a-mess business.

With God's offer stated, the prophet Jeremiah, in verse 12 quotes the people as saying, "And they said, There is no hope: but we will walk after our own devices, and we will every one do the imagination of his evil heart."

To get to the heart of a problem such as this, you have to deal with the problem of the heart.

A life of sin is never better or more rewarding than one committed to serving God.

Some of our lives are as imperfect as a cracked pot, but rest assured and know that God wants cracked pots.

I once heard a story about a young boy of India, who rose every morning and took two water pots to a nearby stream to get water for his father. One day as he was returning home from the stream one of the pots began to leak.

The pot had a crack in it and it began to apologize for the way it always leaked and was not perfect like the other pot the boy carried.

The boy, in a voice full of compassion, simply told the cracked pot to stop apologizing and wait until the next day.

There was something special he wanted to show the cracked pot. The next morning, the boy took the cracked pot out of the house and told it to look at the road that led from house to the stream.

He asked the cracked pot, "What do you see?" The cracked pot noticed that the side of the road he was carried on, when the boy returned from the stream, had beautiful flowers and the other side was bare.

The moral of this story is when we allow God to pour His spirit into us and use us, even through our imperfections, we can accomplish wonderful things.

FFA members delivered 17 freshly processed turkeys and two turkey breasts that they raised and prepared themselves to the Hope's Helping Hands Food Bank Tuesday afternoon.

FFA students donate free-range turkeys to food bank

By JOSH SHEPHERD, NEWS WRITER

FFA students at Harrison County Middle and High schools prepared and processed 18 Christmas turkeys for family holiday feasts Tuesday afternoon.

The birds, which FFA students raised free-range style on the Harrison County School farm under the supervision of middle school ag education teacher Erin Butler and high school animal science teacher Rebecca Russell, were donated to Hope's Helping Hands Food Bank.

The donation is the conclusion of an educational project that FFA students started in the middle of July through a Better Days Through Better Ways grant awarded by the Kentucky FFA Association, said Butler.

There were several teaching goals associated with the grant. FFA students were given experience raising turkeys for processing and packaging in the food supply industry, Butler said.

They were also expected to learn about contributing to the community, which is why the birds they raise will be donated to the Hope's Helping Hands food bank, she added.

With regard to the donation came an unexpected development, Butler said. Because the turkeys were raised free range, she received inquiries from friends about the possibility of actually marketing the turkeys to buyers.

"This was a bonus lesson for the kids. The fashion these days for some people is a preference for locally grown produce. There were a few people who were interested in buying a turkey from us because they support our program and saw our birds as being more 'organic,'" Butler said.

However, the grant was intended as a service learning project for the kids, so they turned down purchase offers in favor of serving the needs of the community through the Food Bank.

The project gave kids insight into the economics of agriculture and recognizing opportunities in food production, she offered. But it left open the idea of a learning project that could double as an FFA fundraiser, if the process costs and regulations weren't prohibitive, Butler said.

Nevertheless, the program has already proven itself a valuable teaching tool. She had nothing but praise for how students worked together to prepare for this project.

On the Harrison County school farm, the students rehabilitated an existing shed for the turkey coop.

The building, which was in poor shape, she said, received a makeover which included a new tin roof, reinforced structure and lots of interior cleaning.

The grant money purchased approximately 30 day-old poults and the students set up a brooder for hatchlings in the school shop.

Students dipped each of the poults' beaks in water to teach them to drink and fed the them until their adult feathers came in.

Once the birds had their mature feathers, they were transported to the farm. Poultry netting was set up to control their grass grazing.

High school students let the turkeys out to graze during the day and put them up in the coop at night, she said. Middle school students came out to feed them around lunch time.

"The kids took their responsibilities seriously. We did not have to get on the kids to do their jobs at all. They really took to it," Butler said.

Out of roughly 30 poults, 18 made it to full maturity for processing, she said.

The final part of the project will be for the students to take the birds to a turkey processing site at Northern Kentucky University where they will get hands-on training on stunning and slitting the bird's throats, bleeding them out, dipping them in the scalding bath to remove the feathers and eviscerating them of their internal organs.

Tuesday evening as the students delivered the finished turkeys to the food bank, many students commented on their excitement at having been part of the processing.

Most of the students were processing poultry for the first time, she said, but none seemed queasy about the experience.

"They all looked forward to it," she said.

The longest part of the procedure is getting the processed turkeys chilled to the right temperature and then packaged for delivery.

"This has been a very good learning project for them. I hope this inspired them to raise and package turkeys on their own at home," she said.

But one thing of which she is certain is that all the FFA students have a better understanding of the possible jobs involved in food production and processing.

"It involves so much more than just raising crops. That may be the most valuable lesson they take from this project," she said.

Kaylea Lemons was introducing the day old Poults that had arrived in the mail to water by dipping their beaks into it so they would know what it was and where it was.

Harrison County wins Rumble on the Hilltop over 10 opponents

By Mike Aldridge, Sports Writer

Harrison County's Thorobreds wrestling team had four undefeated champions, two second place, six third place, and one fourth place finisher as they won the Rumble on the Hilltop Saturday.

The meet, which was held at the Harrison County Middle School, saw the Breds finish with 215 points to Scott County's 209 ½ to win the event.

Perry County Central was a distant third with 110 followed by Bourbon County, Madison Southern, Franklin County, Bates Creek, Grant County, Western Hills, Lexington Catholic and Bryan Station.

Michael Mattox, in the 113 lb weight class, was 3-0 to finish first. Mattox was the only one of the lightweight wrestlers to win his class.

Colin Coy at 170 lbs, Brandon Williams at 182 lbs, and Kellon Williams at 220 lbs each went 3-0 to win their classes.

Mark Taylor was second in the 170 lb class losing to Coy in the final by a decision.

Clay Arthur was second in the 195 lb class though he was 2-0.

The third place winners were Brent Hudgins in 106 lbs class, Colton Mott in 132 lbs, Noah Mitchell in 152 lbs, Chase Blanton in 160 lbs, Sean Mullikin in 182 lbs, and Christian Sinckler in 285 lbs class.

This was Sinckler's first varsity match. Tyler Hudgins at 106 lbs took the fourth place honors in that weight class. Nathan Lopez, Malik Powell, Logan Kellione and Michael Highland also won two matches each but were unable to place in the top four.

"This was a good day for us," said Coach Luke Tucker. "The experienced guys did what they were supposed to do. The younger guys looked inexperienced but still showed improvement."

"The eighth graders, Brent Hudgins and Chase Blanton, really gave us a boost today," Tucker concluded. "These young guys taking third place was huge for us."

The Thorobreds next wrestling event is Saturday when they travel to Paintsville to compete in the Johnson Central Duals.

Breds 4-1 after win over Scott on Hilltop Tuesday

By Mike Aldridge, Sports Writer

The Harrison County Thorobreds handed Scott High its first loss of the season. The Thorobreds defeated the Eagles 85-79 on the Hilltop Tuesday night.

The win improves the Breds record to 4-1 with a date Friday night at home with 1-1 Covington Holmes.

Holmes is coached by former Harrison County coach, Mike Listerman.

Listerman coached Harrison County head coach Larry Kendall and assistant coach Jamie Case while at Harrison County.

Tuesday's game was a grind-it-out type of play that featured 48 fouls, 58 free throws and 46 turnovers. Five players were disqualified with fouls, two of which were from Harrison County.

The first quarter saw Harrison County's leading scorer Trent Thompson make 12 of his team-high 22 points while the two teams exchanged leads for the period.

The game was close throughout, though the Thorobreds never trailed after regaining the lead on a 10-to-2 run with about a minute to go in that opening period.

The Breds stretched the lead to 43 to 36 at the half.

Harrison County's largest lead of 12 points came in the third period, but Scott put on a mini run to cut the lead to seven at 62-55 going into the fourth quarter.

The Eagles would not get any closer than five points for the rest of the game. The Breds made just enough free throws down the stretch to pull out the victory.

Harrison County put four players in double figures. Robbie Stroub had 17 points, Brock Jenkins 14 (all free throws) and Brandon Case scored 13 points.

Case had his best game of the year hitting three three pointers at crucial points in the game.

Senior Andrew Trame scored 35 points including eight three pointers to lead the Eagles.

Harrison County's Jordan Kenney held the Eagle's leading scorer Jake Ohmer to 13 points in the game.

Ohmer came into the contest averaging 28.7 points per game in the Eagles first three contests. Brenton Hughes also scored in double figures for the Eagles with 10 points.

Harrison County dominated the backboards with a 43-to-27 advantage over Scott High. The Thorobreds did turn the ball over 28 times to 18 for the Eagles. The Thorobreds made 25 of 38 free throw attempts while the foul-plagued Eagles made 12 of 20.

Breds best Indians in overtime thriller Monday

By Mike Aldridge, Sports Writer

Brock Jenkins hit a lay up with three seconds left in overtime to propel the Harrison County Thorobreds to a 74-72 win over Madison Central Monday night in Richmond.

Jenkins made two free throws with four seconds left in regulation. This put the game into overtime as the Breds lost a seven-point lead midway through the quarter and had to battle back.

Madison Central (2-2) jumped out to a 13-9 lead by the end of the first quarter as the Thorobreds shot only three of 15 from the field in the opening stanza.

Senior Trenton Thompson made all nine of the Harrison County points in the quarter as he and Madison Central senior guard Kirkland Humphrey were matching baskets.

The duo would be the top scorers for their respective teams for the game as they were in the first quarter.

Fillies lose two in weekend action

By Mike Aldridge, Sports Writer

The Harrison County Fillies lost a home game Friday and dropped one on the road Saturday as their record fell to 1-2.

Nicholas County's Lady Jackets used superior three-point shooting Friday to defeat the Fillies 59-47 on the Hilltop.

Madison Philpott had her second double-double of the season as she led Harrison County in scoring with 14 points and in rebounds with 12. Taylor Reffett chipped in with 12 points and Whitney Gray scored 11 as the Fillies put three players into double figures.

Ball movement and shooting accuracy were the issues for the Fillies as they started slowly and seemed to stand around for the majority of the ball game.

They trailed by two and the end of the first period but rallied to take a one-point lead into the half as Chelsea Ingram hit a three pointer near the end of the second quarter.

Nicholas County outscored the Fillies by six points in the third quarter and stretched the five-point lead to the final 12-point margin in the final period.

Harrison County's poor shooting was the downfall in the game and particularly in the second half.

The two teams were even in turnovers with the Lady Jackets committing 16 and the Fillies 15.

Nicholas County out rebounded the Fillies only 32 to 31 but the Fillies could not overcome the shooting woes.

In the end, the 11 for 23 from the foul line and 29 percent shooting from the field was too much for the Fillies as they dropped their first game of the season.

Sophomore Grace Kiskaden made six of eight three-point tries and 22 points to lead the Lady Jackets.

Senior guard Megan Bretz was also in double figures for the Nicholas County girls as she made 13 points and had a superior floor game.

Sophomore center Allison Howard led Nicholas County in rebounding with nine and also scored nine points.

Saturday afternoon Harrison County's girls headed north to Erlanger to compete in the J.T. Mulligan Classic at Lloyd High School.

The Lady Crusaders of St. Henry, who were 2-0 coming into the game, were the Fillies opposition in the first game of the Classic.

Harrison County never led in the game as the St. Henry's squad scored the first six points en route to a 56 to 34 win.

The Fillies cut into the lead and by the end of the first quarter only trailed by three at 14-11.

Carr resigns as HCHS head football coach

Harrison County is looking for a new football coach. Jim Carr resigned Wednesday and told his players on Thursday.

Part of Jim's reasoning was the fact that the head coach needed to be in the high school.

I agree, though I didn't realize how important it was until we tried to do the job without a coach in the school.

I also believe that the new coach needs to have previous head coaching experience and if possible should be a graduate of HCHS.

Some college experience would also be nice and if his wife was a former college athlete that would be icing on the cake.

ketball on the front page already like it is in Lexington.

The headline news everywhere in college sports is the top four teams that will play for the national championship and how Ohio State passed TCU to take the last spot.

Baylor and TCU are complaining that they should have been selected instead, but how would you sort them out.

TCU has beaten almost everyone they played by a pretty good margin but they lost to Baylor.

Baylor edged TCU but lost to West Virginia and barely beat Texas Tech so how do you put them in the top four?

Granted, Ohio State lost the second game of the year to Virginia Tech, who ended with a 6-6 record, and will play against Cincinnati in the Military Bowl on Dec. 27 in Annapolis. But that was 12 days after they had lost their first string quarterback and since that time they have steadily improved.

The blow out of 10-3 Wisconsin Saturday night shows, I think, how much the Buckeyes have improved.

I am not an Ohio State fan at all, but I believe that they deserve to be in the top four.

All I hear in the national media is how bad the Big 10 is and how great the SEC is, but let's see how the bowl games come out.

All I can hang my hat on today is the fact that 4-8 Indiana, who won one game in the Big 10, beat Missouri on Missouri's field.

Missouri, as you know, was in the SEC title game.

There are four games that match Big 10 and SEC teams.

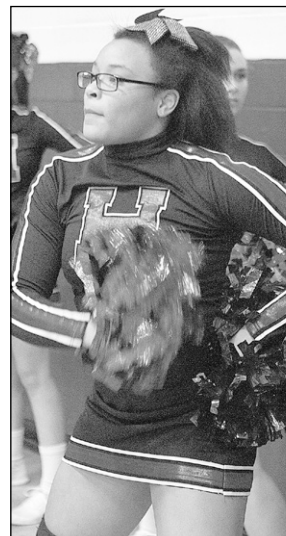

We can compare after they are played to see how each conference fares as well as how the Big 10 does in the 10 total bowl games that they are playing.

Only Michigan, Purdue, Northwestern and Indiana did not make a bowl game.

Twelve SEC teams made a bowl game with only Vanderbilt and Kentucky not making it.

No doubt the SEC is good.

My contention is that the Big 10 is not that bad.

Freshmen open season with loss to Mason County

The Harrison County freshman team traveled to Maysville Wednesday for their first game of the season.

Absent was first-year coach Colin Duffie, who was ill, so Thorobreds head coach Larry Kendall was pressed into duty. The Harrison County team struggled for the night with shooting accuracy and turnovers as they fell to the Royals, 51-24.

The Harrison County boys seemed out of sync without their coach and could not get into a routine.

The team is made up of Austin Haynes, Caleb Covington, Max Ogden, Nate Boyers, Brack Noble, Braden Bryant, Josh Moore, Manuel Baker, Tanner Mullins, Kethan Johnson, LaKendrick Boyers, Dillon Arnold, Hunter Wiglesworth and Alex Midden.

Bryant was the leading scorer for the evening for Harrison County with 10 points. Arnold, Baker, Covington and Noble each had three points with LaKendrick Boyers scoring two and Moore adding one point.

reach.

The Fillies trailed by 45 to 26 at the end of the third stanza and the Lady Crusaders cruised to victory from there.

The Lady Crusaders were led by 6-foot-2 Savannah Neace who scored 14 points and grabbed eight rebounds.

Senior guard Jordan Miller added 13 for the now 3-0 St. Henry team.

Philpott scored 17 points to lead all scorers while Whitney Gray led the Fillies in rebounds with seven.

Free throws were again a problem for the Fillies as they made only 15 of 31 tries. Turnovers were by far the largest issue as the St. Henry pressure caused the Fillies to commit 34 miscues.

The Fillies are now 1-2 with a Tuesday date at Ryle as their next game.

Breds bounce Bluejackets, lose to Pioneers Saturday

By MIKE ALDRIDGE, SPORTS WRITER
Harrison County's Thorobreds didn't look too smooth winning, but win they did Friday night over Nicholas County.

The very physical game produced a couple of technical fouls and a lot of contact in the 71-to-54 Thorobreds' victory.

Trenton Thompson scored 11 of his game high 17 points in the first quarter as the Thorobreds pulled out to a 20-13 lead after the first eight minutes were played.

Harrison County also began what would be a dominant night on the backboards in the first period as they had 10 rebounds to five for the Bluejackets.

The second period saw a balanced Harrison County attack increase the lead to 14 points at the halftime break, 39-25. The second half was similar to the first except the game became increasingly physical with multiple fouls.

Harrison County was whistled for 22 fouls in the game, 12 in the second half while Nicholas County who was much more aggressive was called for 15 fouls for the game.

The Thorobreds stretched the lead to the final 17-point margin to end the third quarter and the two teams played evenly in the final stanza.

Senior Devin Trussell led the Nicholas County scoring with 16 points while fellow senior Tyler Newton chipped in with 12.

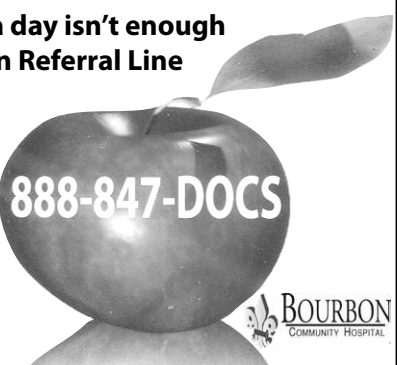

Trussell and senior Ben Duncan led the rebounding for the Bluejackets with five each.

Having More Retirement Accounts is Not the Same as Having More Money.

When it comes to the number of retirement accounts you have, the saying "more is better" is not necessarily true. In fact, if you hold multiple accounts with various brokers, it can be difficult to keep track of your investments and to see if you're properly diversified.* At the very least, multiple accounts usually mean multiple fees.

Bringing your accounts to Edward Jones could help solve all that. Plus, one statement can make it easier to see if you're moving toward your goals.

*Diversification does not guarantee a profit or protect against loss.

To learn why consolidating your retirement accounts to Edward Jones makes sense, call your local financial advisor today.

HCMS Colts struggle in games with McNabb, Scott and Robertson County

By MIKE ALDRIDGE, SPORTS WRITER

In the eight games played since last Thursday by the Harrison County Middle School teams only the sixth grade team has won and then only one time.

The youngest of the Colts lost a 32-27 game with McNabb on Thursday but came back to defeat Scott County Monday night, 31-30.

Then the Colts lost to Robertson County for the second time this year by a 20-13 score Tuesday night.

One of the positive things about the sixth grade games is the balanced scoring. In each game at least four players scored and most of the time more.

Logan Cummins led the Colts in scoring against McNabb with 12 points with Devin Lewis, J.D. Soard, Tayshaun Custard, Landon Bowlin and Riley Warmouth also scoring.

In the Scott County win, Custard led the way with 11 points with Cummins, Clay Carpenter, Lewis and Soard scoring.

The low-scoring output against Robertson County saw Cummins lead the way with five points.

The sixth grade team's record is now 3-5.

The seventh grade team is yet to win, compiling a 0-10 record to date.

They fell to McNabb, 42-21, with Cameron Covington leading in scoring with eight points.

Casey Sledd had four points and Wilson Duckworth, Ethan Lewis and Logan Cummins each added three points.

The Scott County score was an ugly 65-6 with Duckworth scoring four points and Isaiah Mann adding two.

The Colts were able to play Robertson County closer Tuesday night as they fell by a 36-22 score.

Sledd had nine points to lead the scoring for the Colts. Blake Robinson added six points with Lewis adding three points. Duckworth and Mann chipped in with two points each.

The eighth graders lost their first games of the year as they fell in a close one to McNabb, 63 to 60.

They were then out classed by Scott County, 62-28.

Scott County is the defending seventh grade state champions and gave all indications that they will be the one to contend with for the eighth grade title.

Spencer Free scored 23 points against McNabb, all in the second half, to lead the Colts in scoring.

Harrison County led by two points at the half in this game but McNabb outscored the Colts by five in the third quarter and then held on for the three-point win.

Tyler Reynolds scored eight points while Quenton Pratt, Quenton Turley and Tyler Linville each added seven points. Blake Price rounded out the scoring with six points.

The Scott County game saw the Cardinals take a 24-2 first-quarter lead and never look back in the blow out.

Free scored 11 points and Turley six to lead the Colts.

The eighth grade Colts are now 7-2, 3-1 in the conference. The seventh and eighth grades travel to Woodford County on Thursday for their next encounters.

Breds

From BREDS page 13

The Breds had three others besides Thompson in double figures with Robbie Stroub scoring 14 points, Jovon Williams 11 points and Zack Pulliam 10 points. Thompson was the leading rebounder for Harrison County with eight, followed by Stroub with seven and Jordan Kenney with six.

The win gave the Thorobreds a 2-0 record while the Nicholas County record stands at 0-2.

On Saturday afternoon in Winchester, the Thorobreds faced the Pioneers of Simon Kenton in the George Rogers Clark gymnasium.

Thompson and Stroub combined for 46 of the 61 points that the Breds managed in a 73-61 loss to the Pioneers.

After leading 12 to 8 midway through the first period, the Thorobreds saw Simon Kenton score 10 straight points to take an 18-12 lead.

The Pioneers would never trail after this as they took a 37-29 halftime advantage.

Stroub hit a three pointer to open the second half to cut the lead to five, but Harrison County wasn't able to get any closer for the remainder of the game.

The Thorobreds, who shot well in the first half, turned cold in the second and could not catch the Simon Kenton team who shot nearly 55 percent for the game.

Thompson led the Thorobreds in scoring with 36 points, which is the most points scored by a Harrison County player since Jerry Fogle scored 42 in February of 1993.

Stroub scored 10 points and led the team with six rebounds.

Simon Kenton was led by Matt Mullins who scored 16 points and Jaeger Pracht who netted 14 with eight rebounds.

Timmy Cottrell was also in double figures with 12 points.

The Pioneers advantage came not only from superior marksmanship but also from a 30-to-22 edge in rebounding.

Overtime

From OVERTIME page 11

The Thorobreds tied the game at the half late as Zack Pulliam found the range and hit three long three pointers to knot the game at 30 points. Pulliam and Thompson were in double figures at the half with Thompson scoring 15 and Pulliam 11.

The rest of the game was just what one would think an overtime game would be, extremely close.

Thompson hit for 15 more in the third period but Humphrey had 10 and junior forward Cameron Thomas had seven to keep the Indians close.

Harrison County led 49 to 48 going into the last period.

Harrison County scored eight of the first 10 points of the final stanza and, with just a little over five minutes left, held the lead at 57 to 50.

Madison Central clawed back and scored the next eight to take the lead 58 to 57 with three minutes left.

Jenkins made a pair of free throws to give the Breds the lead again but Thompson picked up his fifth foul with two and one half minutes to play.

That is when Jenkins took over the game for the Thorobreds.

He made 13 of his 15 points in the last quarter and the overtime as he penetrated and scored or was fouled nearly every trip down the floor.

When the defense came out to meet him with the Breds in the lead by one point, he hit Brandon Case wide open for a lay up to give Harrison County a 72-69 lead with 16 seconds to play.

Madison Central scored quickly with junior guard Grant Brockman hitting a three to tie the game with 11 seconds left in the overtime.

Jenkins then drove the floor and, taking advantage of a high pick, drove to the basket for the game-winning points with three seconds left.

Madison Central's desperation heave wasn't close and the Breds improved to 3-1 for the season.

Coach Larry Kendall had a lot to say after the game.

"This was a big win for us, he said. "The boys are in the locker room hooping and hollering. Brock Jenkins is a winner. I knew he was a good player, but he is a winner."

Kendall could not stop without talking about his senior big man Thompson.

"Trent is so strong," Kendall noted. When he gets the ball down low they just cannot defend him."

Thompson led all scorers with 33 points and all rebounders with nine. Jenkins had 15 and Pulliam finished with 14 points and six rebounds in his best performance for the year.

Humphrey scored 28 for Madison Central, Thomas had 17 and Brockman 10 as each team had three players in double figures.

The Thorobreds out rebounded the athletic Indians by 25 to 19 but turned the ball over 19 times to eight for Madison Central.

The big stat in the scoring was Harrison County hitting on 17 of 20 free throws for the night while Madison Central was 14 of 27.

Harrison County was whistled for 21 fouls in the game while the Indians committed 18.

The Thorobreds will be right back in action Tuesday night as Scott High will bring a 3-0 record to the Hilltop for a battle of 10th Region foes.

Madison Central won the freshman game 53 to 27 with Braden Bryant leading Harrison County with 12 points.

The Indians also won the junior varsity game scoring with two seconds left to win 47 to 45. Brian Davis had 12 points to lead Harrison County.

Selection of merchandise may vary by store. Some merchandise may not be available at every store. In addition, merchandise and promotional offers available online at Kohls.com may vary from those offered in Kohl's stores. "Sale" prices and percentage savings offered in this advertisement are discounts from Kohl's "Regular" or "Original" prices. The "Regular" or "Original" price of an item is the former or future offered price for the item or a comparable item by Kohl's or another retailer. Actual sales may not have been made at the "Regular" or "Original" prices, and intermediate markdowns may have been taken. "Original" prices may not have been in effect during the past 90 days or in all trade areas. Merchandise in this advertisement could be offered at the same or lower "Sale" prices during future promotional events beginning on or after the last day of this advertised event. Clearance merchandise, Kohl's Online Exclusive items and Kohl's Cares® cause merchandise or other charitable items are excluded from "Entire Stock" promotions in this advertisement. In some events, actual savings may exceed the percent savings shown. KOHL'S® and KOHL'S brand names are trademarks of Kohl's Illinois, Inc. ©2014 Kohl's Department Stores, Inc.
